

◎ When you lose your property

■ When you lose your property

When you have lost your property, you are encouraged to report it to the nearest police station, police box, or residential police box.

When you have lost your property in a train carriage, a rail station, or a department store, you are encouraged to report it to a janitor, an information center, or the offices that manage those buildings.

In case the office receives the lost property, it shall temporarily keep the property and shall report it to the police within 7 days.

■ Precautionary measures

You are encouraged to put memos (includes name, address, and phone number) in your bag, etc.

You are also encouraged to keep the make and serial number of watches, cameras and electric appliances, etc.
